WHY CARMENCITA DOES NOT DANCE.

The admirers of Carmencita's Spanish dances will be somewhat surprised to learn that her engagement at Koster & Bial's Concert Hall has been brought to a sudden close. She was to dance there for two weeks more, but, owing to some misunderstanding with the managers, she brought her season to an end on Satur day night. She says that when the engagement was made it was understood that she was to dance at all performances, evening and afternoon, till warm weather, and then only in the evening and on Saturday When the warm weather came, however the managers insisted on her dancing at all matinees, just as before, and rather than do that she closed he engagement altogether. The managers say that the discussion of the matinees was only incidental, and that the real trouble was a question of discipline. Car-moneita, they say, insisted on standing in the wings, in view of the audience, while the French dancers, Dufour and Hartley, were on the stage. The stage manager objected to this and Mr. Bial remonstrated with Carmencita about it, but she would not comply with his sted it she said that she would not dance after Mr. Bial accordingly accepted her agers declare that their present relations are not un-friendly.

principal attraction of the bill at Koster & last night was Dufour and Hartley, who gave their "folly dance" and other dances and pleased the audience as much as ever. The Borani Brothers, as the "disappearing demons," were also clever and en-tertaining, and the burlesque "Pounhonias" was re-ceived with the usual approval. Other specialities were given by Agnes Evans, Jules Keller, Itamz and Arno, the Caulston Sisters and A. O. Duncan.

ADDRESSES IN CHURCH AND ON THE CAMPUS-THE PHILADELPHIAN SOCIETY.

Princeton, June 13 (Special).-To-day was the third day of commencement week, and it dawned as fair and smilingly as the other two had done. The chief occurrence of the day, the exercise around the cannon, began at 2:30 o'clock. A large amphitheatre of seats had been constructed about the cannon, and they were soon filled. The cannon was captured from the British in the Revolution, and has been set in the centre of the campus. Here the class history was read by John Mills Mayhew, of Nebruska, and the presentation oration made by Charles Wo of Pennsylvania. Leon Martin Cornwell, of Pennsylvania, read the prophecy, and the censor, Charles Philip Spooner, of Wisconsin, made his ad-There was also an address by the class president, John Benem Kouwenhoven, of New-York. Somerby's presentation oration was conceded by every one to be the finest thing of the kind that had been heard here in years. After the exercises the class sang the class ode and smoked a last pipe, breaking the pipe over the cannon afterward. Then they gave three cheers for '92 and Princeton.

The dimer to the members and alamni of the American Whig Society was held this afternoon in the new hall, the dedication of which takes place tomorrow. Covers were laid for over 200.

NOTES OF THE NAVY.

THE CASES OF COMMANDERS SMITH AND GRAHAM-AN UNUSUAL CONTEST AGAINST LIEUTENANT LEMLY.

Washington, June 13 (special).-Although the Navy Department has taken no final action in the case of ommander Smith, who was recently found by a Nava xamining board to be disqualified for promotion, and that of Commander Graham, who was tried by a general court-martial and sentenced to be dismissed : the Navy, it is known that both of these cases have received the careful consideration of the Department and it is believed that that of Commander smith will be settled within a day or two. As the conclusion in these cases affects not only the promotion of certain officers, but at least two of the cadels of the class of graduates of the Naval Academy, who have completed the prescribed sea service and are ready for assignment to either the line, the Marine Corps or the Engineering Corps, the final action of the Department in the cases of Commanders Smith and Graham, Is awaited with much interest.

The case of Commander Smith is an unusual one in the Navy, as that officer, owing to certain allegation relating to his moral unfitness, has been without duty for the last twelve years, and the examination int his record and qualifications has been a careful and prolonged one. The report of the board before which he appeared has undergone the most thorough scrutiny of secretary Tracy. Under the provisions of law, Comannder Smith can be either dropped from the service with one year's pay, or, not having been recommended for promotion by the board of officers before which h appeared, be placed on the retired list and, in view of services during the war and the fact that there no legal bar to such action. It is believed that the disposition of the Department is to exhibit all possible leniency in his case and to recommend to the Presi-dent that he be placed on the retired list.

Considerable surprise is expressed in Naval circles that one of the unsuccessful contestants for the place of Judge Advocate General of the Navy should appear in Washington, and, by the use of political and social influence, seek to induce the President not to send to the Senate the name of Lieutenant Lemly, acting Judge Advocate-General, whom Secretary Tracy has commended for promotion, but the fact that such an effort on the part of one of the unfortunates is being made is beyond question. As it is not regarded as probable that an attempt of this nature will succeed, in view of the fact that the recommendation of a Cab-inet officer in such cases is usually conclusive with the Fresident, it is pretty safe to say that Lieutenant Lemiy's nomination will be sent to the Senate for con-

It is customary with officers of the Navy to submit their requests for promotion or detail to the Secretary of the Navy, and his conclusion or recommendation is egarded as final, and it is a matter of regret amo officers that the present case should be an excep-tion, and that after a fair contest for the place any officer who has failed to receive the recommendation of the Secretary of the Navy should appeal from his decision. Such efforts are conductive to bad disci-pline, and are therefore injurious to the morale of the

SENATOR HILL IN BUOYANT SPIRITS.

HE BELIEVES THAT HE CAN DEFEAT CLEVE-LAND AND GIVES FIGURES TO PROVE IT. Senator Hill arrived from Washington early yester day morning, and spent the day at the Hoffman House in this city, where he saw a number of his supporters, big and little. His time was taken up trying to impress upon them his view of the situation, which was that if the delegates from this State gave him their unwavering adherence he still had a substantial chance to win. He was extremely sanguine of being able to "knock out" Cleveland, Many of the Tammany men were far more interested in this part of the programme than in the deeplaid schemes for the ex-Governor's success.

A conference was held at Mr. Hill's rooms at the Hoffman Annex, at which Richard Croker, Hugh McLaughlin, Chairman Murphy and Lieutenant-Governor sheehan were present. Mr. Hill had a table of figures before him, in which he had noted the number of votes which he expects to get in each State. He assured his friends that his sources of information were unquestionable. From Alabama he claimed 13 votes in Arkansas 9, California 14, Colorado 8, Connecticu s. Florida 5, Georgia 13, Idaho 6, Indiana 18, Kansos 3, Louisiana 9, Maine 3, Maryland 7, Massachusetts 2, Michigan 3, Missouri 10, Mississippi 8, Montana Nebraska 4, Nevada 6, New Hampshire 2, Nev Oregon 6, Pennsylvania 8, Rhode Island 3, South Carolina 9, South Daketa 8, Tennessee 18, Texas 14, Vorment 2, Virginia 12, Washington 8, West Virginia Wyoming 6, and in Arizona, New-Mexico, Utali, Inhoma and the District of Columbia, cach. In this way Mr. Hill figured up a vote for himself of 377, against about 412 for Cleveland.
